

Logan is a dedicated volunteer and leader within his school and community. He is invested in the curricular and extracurricular programs his school provides. Logan's passion for the arts is evident through his commitment to the Drama Club as an actor. He also participates in the regional drama festival, where he serves as Stage Manager, overseeing all aspects of production. Beyond school, Logan meaningfully contributes to his hometown as a member of the Leader & District Arts Council as well as a member of Leader Minor Ball. He also devotes time to officiating local sports such as hockey, volleyball, and baseball. Officiating contributes to his community while sharpening his own communication skills with coaches, players, and other officials. Last year, he began mentoring and coaching younger officials for Hockey Saskatchewan where he is supporting younger officials and developing his own leadership skills. Logan's love for the community is evident through his volunteering efforts and his commitment to supporting the community he calls home. Logan's commitment to community extends into his growing interest in website development. Creating websites for non-profit organizations, helping them share information and connect with their communities without the financial barriers often associated with web development. He has created sites for the Leader & District Arts Council, Leader Skating Club, and most recently, River Ridge Golf Club.

As a prospective director of the Organization of Saskatchewan Arts Council, I hope to contribute a strong youth perspective and help strengthen engagement with the arts across Saskatchewan. I believe it is important that younger generations are represented in conversations about the future of the arts and that we continue finding new ways to connect people of all ages with arts and culture. I hope to bring fresh ideas that encourage greater community participation, increase awareness of the important role arts organizations play, and help make the arts more accessible and engaging for everyone. By working alongside experienced leaders and community members, I look forward to supporting initiatives that foster appreciation for the arts and ensure they remain a vibrant and valued part of communities across Saskatchewan for years to come.
